

Language Study for the Go Programming Language

Parker Gabel

The Go Programming Language

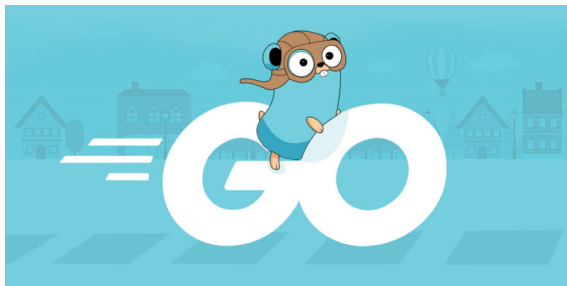

Figure 1: Gotta Go Fast!

History and Current Status

- The Go Programming Language(Golang) is developed by Google and was first released in 2007.
- Designed for concurrency and productivity.
- Design team included Rob Pike and Ken Thompson, famous for their work on Unix at Bell Labs.
- Golang is actively maintained and used at google.
- It is seeing adoption in broader industry for microservices.